At the Aberdeen plant

Selected passages from the Wingo account of workplace events in 2020. The quoted words below come from the submitted Scene 2 narrative.

July 2020 / Badge access / Page 2

“his employee badge had been unexpectedly deactivated.”

John Wingo describes coming to work at 3M’s Aberdeen, South Dakota, plant after occupational health had cleared him to return. The narrative identifies Lauren Stearns as the occupational health nurse and David Rook as the supervisor John questioned about the badge.

November 8, 2020 / Workplace correspondence / Pages 6–7

“Thanks for the info, Dave! Hopefully he's out for 3 weeks.”

Scene 2 attributes these words to occupational health nurse David Paulson. The narrative says supervisor David Rook forwarded the message and supervisor Matthew Barber replied, “He's learning our ways.” John points to the exchange to explain how he believed management regarded his absence.

Source: Scene 2, “A Scathing Indictment of 3M’s Criminal Corporate Conduct and Reckless Disregard for Employee Safety,” 45-page submitted narrative. Page numbers refer to the uploaded PDF. Scene 2 cites 3M062875 for the November exchange.